SUCCESS STORY

Novatech's partnership with Fareport Training.

"The Apprenticeship has improved the confidence of our HR Advisor. I have seen them develop a stronger foundation for supporting managers and employees effectively."

How we partnered with Novatech

We wanted to strengthen our HR capability and build confidence in handling complex people matters. Partnering with Fareport offered the opportunity to gain structured knowledge, practical skills, and professional accreditation that would help our HR Coordinator (now HR Advisor) support the business more effectively.

The impact

The Apprenticeship has improved the confidence of our HR Advisor. I have seen them develop a stronger foundation for supporting managers and employees effectively. They have taken on several projects, and supported several Employee relations cases, allowing me more time to focus on other things needed for the business to deliver on strategic goals.

“Fareport came across as professional and knowledgeable and we felt confident they could deliver what we needed. I can see from our HR Advisor that the experience has been confidence-building in every way – from HR knowledge, providing sound HR advice to project management.”
